Developmental Screening and Consultation

Each child develops uniquely and at different paces.

Screenings are a fun and comfortable way to learn how a child is developing, and to address developmental questions parents and caregivers may have.

Developmental screening of children are conducted virtually, in-home, at daycare, or at DSC.

Our in-house Developmental Screener, Bobbie Webb, screens children using the Ages and Stages Questionnaire (ASQ).

The ASQ can provide a quick snapshot of a child's overall behavior and development. This will assist with identifying children who may need further evaluation, and/or determine the existence of a delay or disability, and eligibility of services for the child.

Finally, the ASQ identifies a child's strengths and needs across all areas of development, which can be useful information for the child's caretakers. DSC's Developmental Screener can assist the family with linkage and referral to appropriate services.
